Vayyiqra

(and He summoned)

In this Portion we find many of the different ordinances related to each of the sacrifices that YHWH commanded Israel through Moshe when he was on Mount Sinai.

The first offering listed is the burnt offering which can be either of the herd or the flock. A herd animal is a cow and a flock animal is either a sheep or a goat. YHWH commands us that this offering must be without defect. One can also give a burnt offering of the birds, either a dove or a pigeon. If a bird is given as a burnt offering then the crop and all its feathers are removed before offering the bird. A grain offering may also be offered, but it must be offered with salt.

YHWH then goes through the peace offering, which is also to be without defect. It can be male or female from the herd or the flock.
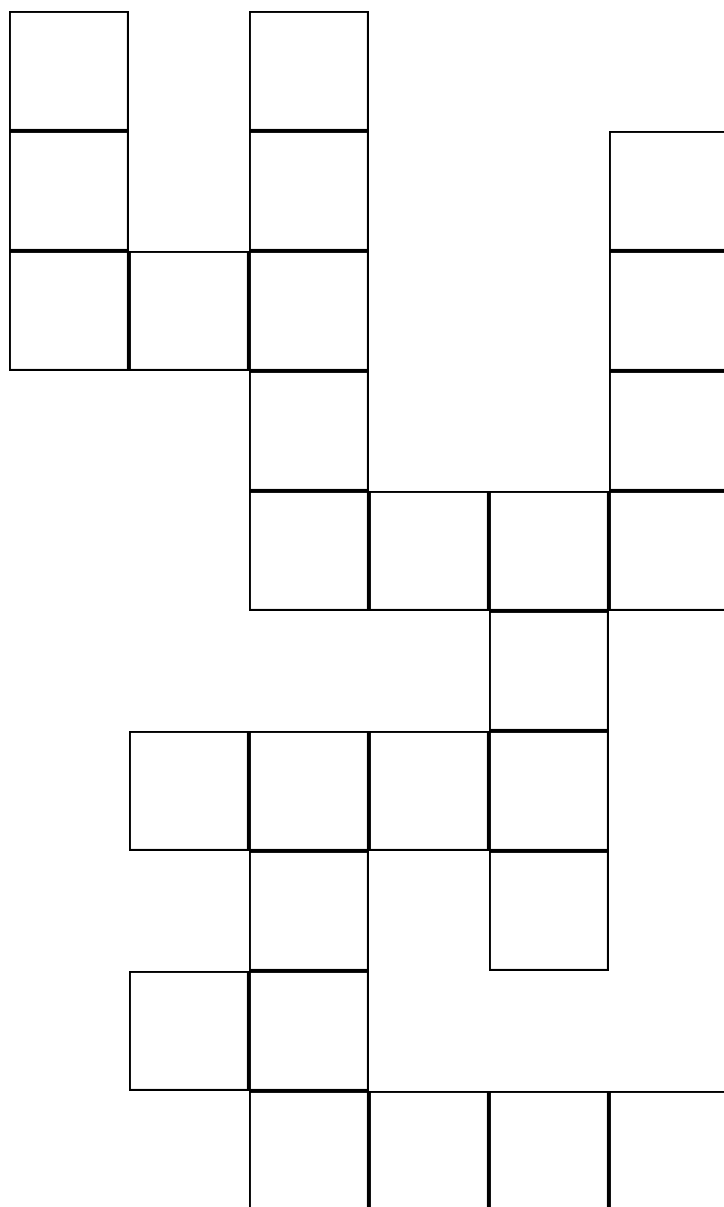

YHWH then reminds us that we are not to eat any of the blood or the fat of the animal.

The majority of the Parasha is dealing with the sin offering. YHWH instructs us concerning the sin offering for the high priest, a leader, a common person and for the nation as a whole.
