Bo

(Go)

YHWH tells Moshe how He has hardened Pharaoh's heart once again in order to perform all His wondrous signs in Egypt. Moshe is to go to Pharaoh once again. This time he is to ask him to let His people go or else face a plague of locusts. And whatever has not already been destroyed by the other plagues, the locusts will eat up everything that is left. But Pharaoh hardens his heart once again and the locusts come. Then Pharaoh is warned about the plague of darkness. It was so dark that it could be felt, but the darkness was only upon the Egyptians. It was not upon the Israelite people.

Then finally the last plague is delivered to Pharaoh. This is the death of the firstborn of all of Egypt. This includes all the firstborn children of all the people of Egypt and also the firstborn of all their animals as well. In order for Israel not to experience this plague YHWH gave them some very specific instructions to follow. Each household was to kill a young lamb that was in the first year of its life and then put the blood of that lamb upon the doorposts and lintel of their house. Then they were to cook the lamb with fire and eat it in trepidation (fear).

YHWH commanded His people that they were never to forget this night. They were to observe this night throughout their generations forever. They were to eat the lamb roasted with fire and with unleavened bread and with bitter herbs. They were to eat it with their shoes on and their staff close at hand. They were to be ready to leave Egypt, for when this plague came, Pharaoh would drive them out of his land. And so it came to pass.
